If three or more teams have the same number of points in the standings, then their ranking shall be determined by the higher number of points in a special standing composed only from the results of their head-to-head (mutual) games, provided the tied teams each played each other. In this case, if the number of points is equal between any of the teams remaining in this special standing just from the results of all teams head-to-head (mutual) games, then the following tie breaking criteria applies (with no secondary return to head-to-head results):
